Your Partner In Success

Deadlines in food marketing are real—and when a shoot slips, it lands on your shoulders. Teams are stretched, approvals take time, and waiting on photos can stall an entire launch. You deserve a partner who gets that.

At Downes Media, we build around your schedule and sanity. We start with a quick planning call to lock the shot list, timeline, and approvals. Then we bring the right setup—our Asheville studio or a full mobile studio at your location—so you don't lose time to logistics. You'll see selects fast, get clear communication throughout, and receive organized, ready-to-use imagery.

Most importantly, you never have to worry about delivery: you get finished imagery within 48 hours of the shoot * —or the images are free. That promise keeps your launch moving and your team confident.

You focus on the story and the strategy. We'll sweat the details, meet the deadline, and hand you visuals you're proud to publish.

A Team Effort

When you choose Downes Media, you're hiring more than a photographer—you're getting a full creative team ready to deliver award-worthy food imagery. Aubrie McGuffey, our Food Photography Director, brings culinary storytelling to life. Michael McMurtrey, our Director of Food Styling with experience at Disney and major studios, ensures every plate looks perfect. Marci Seither and Keira Peterson add artistic precision and style to every frame.

Behind the scenes, Roger Downes keeps projects running smoothly, while David Rice makes sure your needs always come first.

We can bring our full mobile studio to you or welcome you into ours—always delivering your final images within 48 hours or the shoot is free.

With Downes Media, you get a dedicated team committed to making your brand shine with unforgettable, award-level photography every time.
